A SCHOOL FOR SPIDERS.

The Insects Taught to Weave Their Webs Only on Bottles.

"This is my spiders' school," said the young woman, and with a little stick she brushed a few webs from the wall. "Not much to look at, is it? Only a dozen rows of wine bottles, a great many spiders and a great many webs. I make nevertheless a little money out of the school.

"Spiders' webs are in demand among surgeons and among the makers of certain astronomical instruments, the surgeons using them to stop hemorrhages with and the instrument makers using them in certain very delicate instruments—instruments wherein, strange to say, a human hair would not take their place, because a hair is neither fine enough nor durable enough to serve the required purpose.

"Besides selling the webs I also sell the spiders. A corrupt class of wine dealers buy the spiders. These men put them among bottles of new wine. I train the spiders to weave on bottles only—I tear down webs woven anywhere else—and it is amazing how quickly these well schooled pupils of mine will cover a case of port or claret with cobwebs, giving to the wine an appearance of great age.

"Six spiders in a week will add two years to the aspect of a dozen bottles of wine; hence you will readily see how valuable the ugly little creatures are to wine merchants of a certain type."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

SEWING COTTON.

The Humble Origin of the Great Thread Industry.

The origin of sewing cotton was told at a cotton manufacturers' meeting by the head of the great thread house of Paisley, Scotland. It was discovered in 1803 by his grandfather, who had a little business in Paisley, making silk twine for heddles, which were used by every weaver. The silk came from Hamburg, and in 1803 Napoleon caused the stock held there to be burned in order to hamper British trade. The weavers were in despair, but James Clark conceived the idea that cotton yarns could be twisted together to form the twines.

The experiment succeeded, and from this grew the idea that cotton could be substituted for flax in the manufacture of sewing thread and would not be so coarse and harsh. He began the manufacture of the thread in a very small way. It was at first put up in skeins and had to be wound into little balls by the purchaser, and then Mr. Clark invented the modern spools. He had them made by a wood turner, half a gross at a time. They cost him sixpence a dozen, and he charged the purchaser of the thread a halfpenny for the spool, which, however, was refunded when the spool was returned. The ladies of Paisley used to come to his shop with their spools and wait while he wound the thread on them. From this small beginning grew a great industry.

Young Hunter's Hard Luck.

"Some years ago," said a hunter, "when I lived down on the eastern shore of Maryland, where I was born, I had passed a whole day gunning rabbits and had not killed one. On my way home through the woods I met a boy who had a live rabbit. Ashamed to go home empty handed, I gave the boy 25 cents for his rabbit.

"I then said to myself, 'I will tie Mr. Rabbit to a bush and kill him, and the folks at home will say Ed shot a rabbit.' I took a shoestring and fastened the rabbit to a bush and then stood off, took aim and fired. When the gun had stopped kicking I saw Mr. Rabbit flying through the woods. My bullet had cut the shoestring in twain and had set the little animal free."—Baltimore American.

Sword Stands In Churches.

Sword stands came into use in London churches when it became customary to carry the city sword before the lord mayor as he went to church in state. During service the sword was placed in the stand or case provided for it, and in his own church the lord mayor generally had the stand placed conveniently near to or in his family pew. This custom, which was quite common before the end of the sixteenth century, apparently began in the reign of Elizabeth. The state visits to the city churches were discontinued in the mayoralty of Sir R. N. Fowler, 1883.—London Standard.

BAKED BEANS.

How They Are Cooked For the Lumbermen In Maine.

Didst ever hear—oh, ye epicure—of the lumberman's baked beans, the delicatessen of the backwoods, the twenty-one times a week, stick to the ribs provender that floats in amber juices and that when mined in the morning from the bean hole emit such delicious odor as to make mouths water all along the border? The cook and the cookee join drives in building up this monument to high art in culinary. The woods cook usually bakes a tin wash-boiler nearly full of beans, first parboiling them before he gets them ready for the pot. Then he peels an onion and slices it into the bottom of the pot. Then he pours in half the beans; then slices over them another onion; then puts in the chunks of salt fat pork; then douses in the rest of the beans. Over all this he pours a pint of molasses and then more pork. Just enough water is added to cover the beans, and then a sheet of birch bark is placed over the top of the pot and the cover pounded in tight. When the water begins to steam the bark swells and seals the pot, holding in all the flavor. The cookee (there's all the difference in the world between the cook and the cookee) builds the fire in the bean hole. When the birch wood has heated the stones that line the hole and has itself burned to redhot coals most of the coals are taken out and the beans are put in. The beans are placed in the hole in the afternoon. They stay there all night. In the morning they are dug out. All other baked beans are libels on the name, for these have the sauce of the pine and the spruce.—Lewiston Journal.

AMERICAN COLLEGES.

They Are Unique Among Institutions of Learning.

The American college is in every way unique. It may be defined in a word as a school for imparting more general and advanced instruction than can be obtained in the various academies and private schools. The university, however, more particularly comprises a number of technical schools, imparting instruction in all departments of knowledge, including classical literature, the arts and sciences, as biology, medicine, surgery, law, theology, mechanics and so on. The issue as to which is the most desirable, the most useful, has been discussed at educational congresses, in the public press and notably in the leading reviews. There has been evident in these discussions a tendency to look upon the college as a kind of inferior school which must be given its place only when there is not enough money to establish the more expensive university. On the other hand, the college has not wanted its stout champions, in whose view the American college, with its concentrated curriculum, the closeness of touch between pupil and professor, is not only an institution that is to be conserved, but is one that often, if not always, offers a better kind of education than is available in the university.—Leslie's Weekly.

Girls In Guatemala.

None of the maidens in Guatemala are allowed to go abroad from their homes without the company of a chaperon, and a lover is only allowed to come and court his sweetheart through the heavily barred windows of her father's home. After they are married they pass along the streets in Indian file, the women marching ahead, so that the husband can be in a position to prevent any flirtations.

Perfectly Correct.

The deacon was hard to convince.

"No," declared he, "I'll have no such contraption in my house. Planners are things of evil."

"Oh, but, pa," protested his lovely daughter, "this is an upright piano!"—Pittsburg Post.

There Are Some Funny Ones.

"Tell me," said the editor's friend, "who are the most humorous writers you have ever met?"

"Most of those who think they are serious writers," replied the editor.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The flattery of one's friends is required as a dram to keep up one's spirits against the injustice of one's enemies.—Bulwer.

JUMP FEVER.

A Sort of Mania That Sometimes Affects Engine Drivers.

In a party of locomotive engineers who were talking about old time fellow craftsmen reference was made to one old timer who had come to his death through "jump fever." "What's 'jump fever?'" inquired an outsider who was interested in the conversation. "'Jump fever,'" explained an engineer, "is a sort of hallucination that affects some engineers and leads them to leap from the cab to escape a supposed impending collision. It's mostly freight engineers that are affected. On long runs out west a freight engineer may be thirty-six hours at the throttle without much chance for rest owing to mishaps. He gets sleepy and dozes in the cab. All of a sudden he wakes up, but his faculties are scattered, and what with lightness of the head and the motion of the cab he gets an idea that a collision is about to happen. In a semiconscious state he dives out of his window, and the chances are he's a goner when he lands. The engineer we referred to had done the trick twice, but he was killed the third time out on the Santa Fe road."—Philadelphia Record.

Profitable Inventions.

No one class of inventions has been so profitable to both the manufacturer and the inventor as musical instruments and appliances for same. Numerous improvements to the piano have been a source of large fortunes, and various devices are at present being continuously applied. Radically new instruments possessing real merit are the inventions needed in this line. The public is always ready to adopt almost anything new in both wind and stringed instruments.—Inventor.

Would Even Things Up.

"Oh! Ouch! Stop that!" yelled Tommy.

"Why, Tommy, aren't you ashamed?" exclaimed his mother. "I wouldn't cry like that if it were my hair that was being combed."

"I'll bet you would if I wuz doin' the combin'," replied Tommy fiercely.—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Mean Trick.

Adele—Harry is a brute! Estelle—What is the matter now? Adele—He bought my engagement ring while he was on a trip to Chicago, and I will never be able to find out how much it cost.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Lobster's Advantage.

The lobster has been endowed by nature with two gifts which go far to offset the evils attending his lot. One is the ability to fight early, often and all the time if necessary, and the other is the ability to grow a new member—an eye, a leg or a claw—whenever the original is lost in the fortunes of war or by reason of any domestic unpleasantness. It is these two gifts which enable him to grow up and become a useful member of society, most of his members being secondhand, so to speak, by the time he is really grown.—Four Track News.

Bad Effect of Bitters.

Luckily absinth is not much drunk in England, but other bitters are, some that are only less injurious. Your readers should know that all bitter tonics, habitually indulged in, are apt to do harm—to depress, not exhilarate. Such tonics should be taken rather as medicines than as everyday drinks. You could bring yourself to melancholy by means of gentian, quassia or columba as well as by wormwood.—Doctor in London Mail.

How She Saved Trouble.

"Does your janitor attempt to show his authority?"

"No," answered Mr. Flatts. "He didn't have to show his authority. I started in by giving him to understand that I fully recognized it without any argument."—Exchange.

The Logical Cure.

"Did you ever have insomnia?"

"Sure!" replied the man who pretends to know it all.

"What did you do for it?"

"Just slept it off."—Houston Post.

THE LOVE AFFAIR OF MR. BUMGARDINER.

Now here is a go that is rum,
When you read it you're bound to laugh some,
Of a youth known to fame,
Bumgardiner's his name:
But his friends oft' address him as "Bum."

He was courting a beautiful maid,
That she loved him cannot be gainsaid;
But to his great dismay
She would not set the day,
For she said, "At your name I'm dismayed."

She told him, "'Tis useless to come
And into my ear offers drum;
I won't bear your name.
Though I say it with shame,
You'll have to get rid of the 'Bum.'"

In vain he begged, pleaded, implored,
His protests were calmly ignored;
He was proud of his name,
And was not much to blame;
But to lose her he could not afford.

He went to the Court in his plight,
And spoke thus to the just, learned light;
"Though it's bound to hurt some
I'd be rid of my Bum,
And as Gardiner, be wed before night."

Said the Judge in his manner so wise,
Very much to the young man's surprise,
"To the Doctor with you,
I'll have nothing to do
With parting a man from his thighs!"

When the Maid heard the Court's strange decree,
She was puzzled as maiden could be;
But soon she awoke,
On her mind a light broke,
And she said, "Dear love, take me to thee!

Though our name may be laughed at by some,
Love's not measured by rule of the thumb.
I'd live my life long
Without wine or song.
Than be wed to a man shy his Bum."

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Another Unfortunate Run Over at Baden.

Train No. 46 of the Southern Pacific Company, which left San Francisco last Wednesday evening at 5:35 p. m. ran over and killed a young man at Baden Station, whom Coroner Crowe, from the investigation thus far made, believes to be A. A. Negel, a resident of St. Louis, Mo. From the statements of the engineer and fireman it would appear to be a deliberate case of suicide. The deceased came upon the track suddenly from beneath a culvert, and threw himself in front of the train, which was running at the rate of forty miles an hour. It was impossible for the engineer to stop his train until it had passed over the body and ground what was once a human being into a shapeless mass. The body was picked up by the train crew, placed in the baggage car, brought to this city and turned over to the Coroner. At first it was thought the body would not be identified, as the pockets of the clothing contained nothing, but Mr. Crowe's deputy, Mr. Pigeon, found in the torn and blood-soaked vest upon the body an identification card issued by The German Registry Company of St. Louis, Mo., upon which the name "A. A. Negel, 1417 Paloma," appears, and also that "in case of accident please notify Mary Negel," at the same address.

Coroner Crowe at once telegraphed The German Registry Company at St. Louis, apprising it of the death of the young man and requesting the company to notify Mary Negel at the above address, but at the present writing no response has been received. A jury was sworn and viewed the body, and the inquest will be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, at the Town Hall.

Since the above article was written, Coroner Crowe received word through Wells, Fargo & Co. making inquiry concerning Mr. Negel's death by the agent of the German Registry Co. at Los Angeles, and in all probability the body of the unfortunate young man will be sent to his relatives.

The Boat Club is now in active training at Stanford, and it will not be long before they are at work on the Redwood Creek.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Blocking the Sidewalk in Front of the Titus Building a Nuisance.

Nothing of importance was done at the town trustee meeting Monday night. City Attorney Kincaid reported that Dr. Stimson had complained that the sidewalk in front of the Titus building was blocked for an unreasonable length of time by a lumber wagon and that when he asked the driver to move his horses so that he could pass, passage was refused in no uncertain word. Trustee Walker asked if there was not a statute covering such a contingency. Attorney Kincaid said that there was one thirty years old but doubted if it could be enforced. The board decided to frame an ordinance in the near future making it a punishable offense to block a sidewalk or crossing for an unreasonable length of time.

The matter of placing additional electric lights then came up. Mr. Nippert said the company was unable to get the right kind of poles. He said that the arc lamps had already arrived and been tested. Chairman Havey remarked that the company must be waiting for the trees to grow. Clerk Stafford suggested that the lamps be put up and the poles erected after they arrived. Nippert said that he would see if this could be accomplished.

There was no further business or discussion so the meeting was declared adjourned by the Chairman.

COUNTY BOARD IN SESSION

Official Business Transacted by the Supervisors at Last Meeting.

A Move Made to Close a Dangerous Bridge—Saloon Men Close at 11 O'clock.

The Board of Supervisors met in regular session Monday. All the members were present.

The Auditor's report was referred back for correction.

A written protest was filed against the granting of a liquor license to L. Semi of South San Francisco. On motion of Debenedetti seconded by Eikerenkotter same was filed and the charges made in the protest will be investigated and heard at the meeting of the Board to be held on February 20th at which time the application of Mr. Semi for a license will be taken up. Following is the protest:

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, January 25, 1905.—To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County—Gentlemen: The undersigned, citizens and residents of the town of South San Francisco, hereby respectfully protest against the issuance of a liquor license to one L. Simi for a saloon in said town. In support of this protest we present the following facts: The saloon now owned and managed by said L. Simi in said town is the resort of many idle, dissolute, disorderly and vicious persons, and is a disorderly place. On December 18, 1904, said L. Simi, in company with his brother (S. Simi), attacked one E. Perdtti in the saloon of D. Cencio in said town, pursued said Perotti behind said Cencio's bar and severely beat said Perotti, leaving him covered with blood; that said L. Simi was charged with battery upon said Perotti, and on December 27, 1904, in the Justice's Court of the First township of San Mateo county, was tried on said charge, was duly convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $40, which fine was by said L. Simi paid; that on or about January 9, 1905, said S. Simi and G. Petrochi entered the saloon of said D. Cencio and created a disturbance of the peace; that when said Petrochi was ejected from said saloon by said Cencio the said Petrochi returned to the saloon of said L. Simi, where he procured a shotgun, and standing at or in the front door of said L. Simi, and in the presence of said L. Simi, fired from said shotgun several charges of shot at and into the front door of the saloon of said D. Cencio; that after firing said shots as aforesaid said Petrochi returned said shotgun to said L. Simi's saloon; that said Petrochi was arrested, charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon D. Cencio, was at the preliminary examination in the Justice's Court at South San Francisco on January 13, 1905, held to answer upon said charge with bail in the sum of $2000; that said Petrochi was at said time a frequenter of the saloon of said Simi, and that said Simi was cognizant of all the acts of said Petrochi and endeavored to shield said Petrochi in said offense. We pray, therefore, that the application of said L. Simi for a liquor license be denied.

Liquor licenses were granted to the following applicants whose petitions had been presented at a previous meeting:

First township—J. Bracken, Colma; bondsmen, H. F. Butts and C. D. Hayway. Andrew Daley, near Ocean View; bondsmen, John H. Anderson and C. D. Hayward. Robert Wall, Colma; bondsmen, H. F. Butts and J. Action on the application of P. J. Cody for a liquor license to do business at San Bruno Park was deferred. Mr. Cody appeared before the Board and stated that last October he filed his application with Judge Cunningham of South San Francisco to secure him a license he not knowing the procedure in such matters and supposed the license would be granted. Since that time an ordinance was adopted, limiting the number of saloons in the county. He acted in good faith and filed his application before the ordinance was adopted and thought the Board should consider his application, however, he was willing to abide with judgment of the Board. Mr. Cody made a strong appeal for the license.

The application of P. L. Archibald for a liquor license to do business at Belmont was returned.

R. D. Kidder, an indigent person of the Fifth Township, applied for aid being 72 years. He is unable to work owing to his age and enfeebled condition. McCracken explained to the Board that the applicant was a worthy object of charity and needed assistance, but thought all such persons should be taken to the county farm. On his motion seconded by Debenedetti, Kidder was allowed $8 per month from date of his petition.

Chas. N. Felton and others, citizens and taxpayers of Menlo Park petitioned the Board to take up the matter with the Southern Pacific Company of placing automatic gates on Ravenswood and Oak Grove avenues. The petition set forth that these crossings were dangerous to the traveling public, many accidents had occurred there and many would take place unless the gates were put up. On motion of MacBain seconded by Eikerenkotter the petition was referred to District Attorney Bullock to confer with the railroad company in the matter.

Louis Braut was given a rebate of $18 on the unused portion of his liquor license, he having disposed of his saloon at Menlo Park last November to Charles Meyer.

The following communication was read from Jerome B. Clark of Arizona and referred to the Boards of Trades of Redwood City and San Mateo. A communication of the State Board of Agriculture asking for information concerning the resources of the county was also referred to those Boards:

January 17, 1905.

The Board of Supervisors, Redwood City, California, Gentlemen: I am desirous of obtaining such information as I can concerning your county, and especially regarding Redwood City and San Mateo. If you have any literature on the subject which you can furnish me, or can inform me where I could obtain same, I would much appreciate it. Would you kindly inform me the population of both Redwood City and San Mateo at the present time as nearly as it can be estimated. Also has the through trolley line from San Francisco been completed to both places yet. I would also like to get an idea of the value of the land in the vicinity of either of these towns, something about two to five acres improved or unimproved.

Thanking you in advance for any information that you may be able to furnish me, I remain

MacBain reported on the condition of the bridge over the San Francisquito creek near the residence of the late John Monohan. He said it was unsafe for public travel and liable to collapse at any moment. He went to San Jose to confer with Supervisor Mitchell in whose district the bridge is located The Supervisors told him the bridge was in good condition on his side, that it was the San Mateo county side that was unsafe. He received no satisfaction and could do nothing further. The District Attorney prepared the following resolution authorizing MacBain to close the bridge and same was adopted on motion of MacBain seconded by Eikerenkotter:

WHEREAS, The Supervisor of the Third township has reported that a certain bridge over the San Francisquito creek near Monahan's, which said bridge connects with the Mayfield road in Santa Clara county, is in an unsafe condition and extremely dangerous to the public who may have occasion to travel over the same; and

Whereas, It appears that said bridge was constructed by the late Senator Stanford and was never accepted by the county of San Mateo; and

Whereas, In the judgment of this board, from the report of said Supervisor of the Third township, public safety demands that said bridge be closed; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That said road approaching to said bridge, upon the San Mateo county side, be ordered closed, and that said board orders said action taken, solely for the public safety, and without in any manner assuming control of or in any manner accepting said bridge or in any manner assuming any liability for repairing the same.

Ordinance No. 195 amending section 7 of Ordinance No. 194 compelling all saloons to close at 11 o'clock was read. Debenedetti thought that saloon-keepers should be permitted to buy permits to keep open after 11 o'clock when necessity desired it. He explained that often in cases, balls, entertainments, etc., the saloon-keepers would like to keep open until after 12 o'clock. After considerable discussion the District Attorney was authorized to insist this clause making the price $5 for each permit. The ordinance with this amendment will be passed at the next meeting of the Board.

MacBain presented plans for a bridge on the Summit Springs road to cost not more than $200. On his motion seconded by Eikerenkotter same were accepted. MacBain was empowered to construct the bridge by days work as it was an emergency case. On motion of Eikerenkotter seconded by Debenedetti, MacBain was authorized to make all the necessary repairs on a bridge above Dr. Tripp's store at Woodside. MacBain stated that if such repairs were to cost more than $300 the excess would be paid from his road fund.

On motion of McCracken seconded by Eikerenkotter Mrs. M. C. Amaral was allowed $8 for the support of her two children.

The firm of Levy Bros. was awarded the contract to furnish groceries to the county hospital for $1074.60. On motion of McCracken seconded by Debenedetti the Chairman was authorized to enter into a contract with the firm and approve its bond.

On motion of Eikerenkotter seconded by McCracken the superintendent was authorized to purchase meat in the open market.

The Board adjourned to Friday, February 10, to consider court house plans and inspect the new court house.

Friday's Meeting.

The Board met at 1 o'clock pursuant to adjournment at Monday's meeting. All members were present except Supervisor McCracken. The Board made a thorough inspection of the court house building and considered other matters in reference to the construction which they were unable to do during the regular meetings. The plans were carefully scrutinized and all the changes looked into.

PESCADERO PEBBLES.

We are sorry to chronicle the illness of one of our esteemed merchants, J. C. Williamson. He had a very bad fall and bruised one of his legs, and has been confined to his bed for several days, unable to turn in his bed. We are in hopes of seeing him in his place of business before a great while and in his accustomed good health. He is a man that is a friend to everyone, and no one is missed any more than he is when obliged to be absent.

S. B. Thompson and family are laid up with la grippe.

Ex-Supervisor McCormick has been laid up with la grippe and badly swollen feet but is able to be up now.

The Passing of a Pioneer.

Mrs. Mary J. Stephens, one of the oldest residents of Santa Clara, passed peacefully away last Tuesday morning at her home in that city. She had been in ill health for the past few years, and her death was due to old age.

The deceased was a native of Ireland aged 73 years. With her husband, who died a few years since, she went to Santa Clara in June, 1857, and spent the balance of her life there. She was a cheerful, devout, Christian woman, and much beloved by all who knew her. She raised a family of four daughters and three sons, one of whom, Edward Stephens, resides in Redwood.

Saunders-Filben.

Frederick K. Saunders of Palo Alto and Miss Bertha Filben were united in marriage Tuesday at the home of the bride's father, Rev. Thomas Filben, 1731 Pine street, San Francisco. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Filben. Mr. Saunders is well known here, he having often visited many times with his cousin Ben. He is now in the lumber business in Palo Alto with the Dudfield Lumber Co. He is an energetic young man and will without doubt be as successful in the business as was his father Ambrose Saunders, who before his death did an extensive lumber business near Woodside at Saunders' Mill.

Married in San Francisco.

Edward M. Hallett and Miss Anna M. Meyer, both of Woodside, were united in marriage Wednesday in San Francisco by Rev. Edwin F. Brown. Mr. Hallett has lived in Woodside and is an industrious young man who is held in high esteem by all of his acquaintances. Mrs. Hallett has also been a resident of Woodside for many years. She is a charming young lady and has a wide circle of friends.

SIGNS OF POISON.

What a Sudden Flow of Mouth Water May Indicate.

Dr. Trail mentions the bewilderment of a family that was attacked with a "water rage," incomprehensible until investigation revealed the fact that a lot of horseradish in their kitchen garden had got mixed with some aconite herbs.

The sudden flow of saliva betrays the effect of some metallic poison—lead perhaps or verdigris (oxide of copper)—and suggests the examination of copper cooking utensils. Old fashioned silver spoons were often imitated with plated copper and in course of time furnished a clew to their bottom facts by turning black, then black with greenish tints, but only after their secret had been intimated by a spitting epidemic. It is the same with lead. Chewing a leaden bullet for a couple of seconds makes the "mouth water"—not as a hint as a desire for additional supplies, but to rinse out the palate and remove saliva that might cause mischief by finding its way into the stomach.

A decorative painter who never touched such things as paris green or cinnabar without disinfecting his hands and mouth was greatly puzzled by the morbid activity of his salivary glands. He had to spit like a tobacco fiend and finally traced his trouble to a substance known as "bronze dust" that had settled on his lips and nostrils and, under the influence of moisture, had been developing copper poisons.

Paris green not rarely gets blown like dust all over the fields it is supposed to protect from insect plagues; then, moistened by dew or drizzling rains, forms a paste and clings to vegetable substances, where its presence is never suspected, till their consumers complain of colic and mouth water.—What To Eat.

Love.

It is hard to preserve equanimity and greatness on that debatable ground between love and esteem. There is nothing so stable and unfluctuating as love. The waves beat steadfast on its shore forever, and its tide has no ebb. It is a resource in all extremities and a refuge even from itself. And yet love will not be leaned on.—H. D. Thoreau in Atlantic.

The Last Resort.

Sandy entered a smoking compartment and asked each of his immediate neighbors for a match. All happened to be without them, however, and a look of disappointment came over the Scotchman's face as he remarked resignedly, "Aweel, I'll e'en hae to use one o' my ain."
